Homeowner's booby trap kills burglar!

BODY of Lalley Woodard is carried away from home of Mark McClammy. Woodard was shot and killed by a high-powered rifle rigged to a trip wire on a stair landing.

By DICK DONOVAN

Crime-plagued Mark McClammy got so fed up with being raided by thieves that he rigged a high-powered booby trap — and blasted an unarmed burglar stone cold dead in his tracks!

Part-time painter Lalley Woodard was fatally shot in the neck by a .308-caliber rifle, one of two high-powered guns that cops say McClammy used to booby trap a stairway in his home in Mobile, Ala.

The lethal trap was sprung when 27-year-old Woodard stepped on a wire stretched across the stairs and connected to the rifle's trigger.

Although 29-year-old McClammy hasn't been charged in Woodard's death, cops said the case will be presented to the Mobile County Grand Jury.

While some local residents feel McClammy went too far in rigging the deadly booby trap, many others are outraged that anyone should be punished for protecting their own property.

"He should be given a medal for what he did," declared one elderly resident who lives in McClammy's neighborhood.

"There have been far too many burglaries around here. We're just like sitting ducks.

"If the police can't stop them, why should we be embarrassed for stopping them any way we can?"

"That guy got just what he deserved," another resident said. "How many times do you read in the newspaper where a burglar murdered someone when he was surprised in the act?

"The criminals get all the protection," charged another resident, a woman who was mugged and robbed just a few blocks away from McClammy's home.

"They have all the rights, but the victim has none. That man (McClammy) is a hero, not a criminal. It's shocking that anyone would even think of charging him."

Another resident who has lived in the area for 20 years said he has a burglar alarm in his home but wouldn't even consider a booby trap.

"That sounds like a crazy thing to do," he explained.

"We don't know if McClammy will be indicted or not," Mobile police spokesman Tom Jennings told The NEWS. "But there are some who feel his booby trap was overkill.

"He had the .308 on a landing pointing down toward the foot of the stairs, and he had a second rifle, a .45-70, on the second floor aimed down at the landing."

McClammy, who had complained of frequent break-ins, said he lives alone in the house he's renovating. He said he was in Mississippi when the fatal shooting occurred.

Police said a neighbor telephoned McClammy to tell him he had heard a shot from inside the empty house. When McClammy returned, he and the neighbor went into the house and found Woodard sprawled dead on the floor.

Jennings said Woodard, who reportedly had a record of three arrests, had entered the house by prying open a rear window and pushing out a screen.

"All he had to him was some change, some cigarette papers and a small tool for prying open paint cans," Jennings said.

Now crime victim may be charged with murder

HOMEOWNER McClammy may face murder charges for setting deadly booby trap.

Delivery man pumps 110 gallons of fuel oil into man's basement

Christian Martin got the surprise of his life when he discovered a delivery man pumping heating oil into his basement — because he has electric heat!

"I run out yelling 'Stop! Stop' I heat with electricity," said Martin, who lives in Quebec, Canada. But it was too late. There were already 110 gallons of oil in his coal-storage room, recreation room and spare bedroom, leaving the floor covered to four inches of the gooey mess.

"The guy got the wrong address," said Martin. "He asked me, 'Isn't this 3365 St-Jacques?'

I said, 'Nope, we're 3365.'

BULLDOG RIPS MERCEDES TO SHREDS!

BARNEY the bulldog tried to eat a sports car for lunch

Shocked owner watches in horror as hungry mutt eats new car for lunch

By PETER WINDER

Barney the bulldog tried to eat a 1989 Mercedes sports car convertible for lunch!

While Larry Jenkins cowered inside, the hungry animal:

- Tore gaping holes in the plastic bumper.
- Ripped off all the car's aluminum trim.
- Sunk his sharp fangs into both rear taillights.
- Bit and popped two tires.
- Shredded the convertible roof.
- Yanked off a hood ornament.
- Pulled out chunks of the grille.
- Popped both windshield wipers right off the car.

"I couldn't believe what was happening — it was like a nightmare come true," said Jenkins of Penrose, Australia.

"I stopped by the side of the road to read a map and the dog bolted out of a bush.

"He smiled all around the car like he was sizing it up. Then he attacked," Jenkins said he tried to start the car but couldn't because the battery went dead.

After that he could only watch in shock and disbelief while the dog tried to tear his car to shreds.

"I don't mind telling you that I feared for my life," said Jenkins.

"When that hungry mutt started tearing at the convertible top, I thought he was coming inside the car — and after me — for sure."

The mind-blowing assault continued for 20 minutes, said Jenkins, before the dog's owner saw what the pooch was up to and got him away.

Damages to Jenkin's car were estimated at $3,000, which the dog's owner, Sally Meers, has agreed to pay.

"I don't know what got into Barney, he's normally such a good boy," said the woman. "The worst thing he had done before this was rear up a sofa.

"I guess he just liked the way the car smelled."

Man left 'em hanging

It's been decades since Syd Dernley last led a condemned man to the gallows. But he can still see the look of disbelief in their eyes in the moments before the trap door was sprung.

"When we walked into the death chamber, I could see they were thinking 'This can't be happening to me.'" he explained. "But by the time they stopped thinking that, they were dead."

Dernley, now 68, was one of England's official hangmen before the death penalty was abolished in 1964. He has written a book, A Hangman's Tale: Memoirs of a Public Executioner, in which he describes in chilling detail the condemned man's final moments of life.

Rock music cures deaf girl!

CHRISTIN, with her dad and mom, at a concert by the New Kids on the Block, keeps her eyes riveted on her idols.

MUSIC of the New Kids on the Block worked a miracle!

By MARTHA ATKINS

Until recently, little deaf girl Christin Watts lived in a world of silence and had never spoken a word — but since she saw a video of the rock band New Kids on the Block, she can hear and talk a blue streak!

She watched band's video — and now she can hear and talk a blue streak!

Dolores and Donny Watts, both 24, said their daughter had watched the video at a family birthday party and was just fascinated by the band of young rockers.

"She started dancing like the people on the screen," said Dolores. "And when we turned it off, she threw a temper tantrum.

"The next morning she said her first sentence: 'Mommy, I want Joe,'" apparently referring to New Kid Joe McIntyre. "I couldn't believe it. She grabbed me by the hand and started pulling me toward the VCR. And when I wasn't moving fast enough for her, she said it again for Donny. We were astonished!"

Now, 3-year-old Christin, of Dundalk, Md., can't get enough of New Kids rockers Joe McIntyre, Donny Wood, Jon Knight, Jordan Knight and Dennis Wahlberg.

"She watches that video all day long, at least eight hours a day," said Dolores. "And if we dare to turn it off, she pitches a fit. If we want to watch television, we have to go into the bedroom and watch TV."

But Christin's parents could not be happier since she's now chattering up a storm, even if it means they have to listen to the onstage blare of the New Kids video.

"Her doctors figured she'd have a pretty difficult time learning to talk," said the happy mom. "We were going to take her to Johns Hopkins Hospital for testing but since she's doing so well we may not have to.

"She's also learned the word 'no,' and when she doesn't want to do something she lets us know."

But the little blonde-haired tot didn't say no when she found out she was going to see her idols in person at a recent Baltimore concert.

"She was thrilled," said her mom.

"She loved the concert and didn't take her eyes off the New Kids throughout the whole show."

Dad gives kids to his mom — then blows his brains out!

By JACK ALEXANDER

The stress from trying to make ends meet finally overcame a jobless dad who killed his wife, took his three kids to his mother and committed suicide.

"Here are my kids. Take them," tearful Terry Stegall, 33, told his mother. Then he walked to his car parked nearby and blew his brains out. The bizarre murder-suicide shocked the tiny north Florida community of High Springs "where everybody knows everybody else," said a cop.

"Being out of work for almost six months put a considerable strain on the guy," said police spokesman Sergeant Travers. "He and his wife argued a lot about money." The bloody day began after Stegall took his three children, ages 7, 11 and 15, to school.

He apparently returned to the family's trailer home and shot his wife, Brenda, once in the forehead, cops said.

Stegall then packed up his children and drove them to a nursing home where his mother-in-law, Linda Bateman, is a resident. After turning the youngsters over to her, Stegall walked to his parked car and shot himself in the head.

"Everybody ran. Everyone was just panicked," said nursing home administrator Linda Bateman.

Paramedics later went to the couple's trailer and found the body of Mrs. Stegall, 30.

Only way out

Two children leaped to their deaths from a 20th-floor apartment rather than surrender to police, news agencies in Hong Kong report. A third robber surrendered to police.

Justice goes haywire!

DAD GETS 4 YEARS IN JAIL — FOR SLAPPING HIS SON!

SENTENCED to prison: Dedicated dad Richard Vardaman is trapped in a legal nightmare for punishing his son Richie.

By ALAN PETERS

A devoted dad who slapped his little boy for sniffing gasoline was sentenced to an incredible four years in prison for child abuse.

"I'm not a child abuser. I never intended to harm my son," said Richard Vardaman, a 42-year-old riverboat pilot from tiny Georgetown, Ark.

"I'm going to the penitentiary for trying to save my boy's life," said Vardaman, who never has been arrested for a violent act.

Folks in his hometown say it's ridiculous to think Vardaman would ever hurt his 6-year-old son, Richie.

"He got Richie in everything together. That boy is the apple of his eye," said neighbor Vera Tidman. Friends and neighbors have written letters to the governor asking him to commute the sentence.

Vardaman's bizarre nightmare began when he caught Richie sniffing gasoline for the third time in 24 hours.

"The first time I explained how dangerous it was. The second time I spanked him three whacks on the rump with a switch," said Vardaman.

The distraught dad called a doctor who said sniffing gasoline could cause brain damage or death. Vardaman got the gas can in a shed. Later in the day, he saw his son stagger out of the shed.

"I panicked. Before I even thought about it, I slapped him," said Vardaman. He took Richie to a hospital to make sure the fumes had caused no damage.

"Richie seemed O.K. by the time we got to the hospital but a nurse saw his cheek was bruised and called police," said Vardaman.

Police arrested Vardaman and charged him with child abuse. The boy's bruised and puffy face and prosecutor Chris Raff filed a felony charge against Vardaman.

Prosecutor Chris Raff filed the child abuse charge because a doctor and nurse who saw the boy at the hospital said he "was very badly beaten."

"And they testified to that in court," said Raff.

"Mr. Vardaman hit his son and slapped his ear, but he shouldn't go to prison for it," said lawyer Bill Mills.

"I advised Vardaman to plead guilty to battery figuring he would get — at worst — 30 days in jail," said Mills, the father's former attorney.

I was flabbergasted when the judge said four years even though he suspended two of them."

Judge Cecil Tedder declined to discuss the case because Vardaman's new lawyer, Paul Petty, has asked him to allow Vardaman to withdraw his guilty plea. "We've also appealed to the governor to commute the sentence," said Petty.

"I think the prosecutor and the arresting officer put carried away and the judge was influenced by their overzealous attitude," said Petty.

Antiporn campaign gets out of hand in China

Kids burn bare baby pics

. . . after teachers say nudity is naughty

By JOE BERGER

Shook-up Chinese schoolkids are burning their bare-bottomed baby pictures, bashing bare-bellied Buddha statues and putting diapers on their dogs — because their teachers told them all nudity is nasty!

The kids are so confused by their country's new "Sweep the Yellow" antipornography campaign that many are destroying every book they find with a yellow cover. "The government calls pornography 'yellow' and 'Sweep the Yellow' is supposed to mean rid the nation of pornography," said Beijing school boss Hsia Cheng-Yung.

"But these little children do not understand. They teachers told them pornography was bad.

"And because they didn't know how to explain it, they told them nakedness was pornography."

So, when teachers asked youngsters to turn in any porn they found, the bewildered kids started handing in tons of baby pictures, medical books, paintings swiped from museums, walls — even photos of abortion clinic workers.

Other children dashed and burned paintings, baby pictures, Buddha statues and books they thought were naughty.

"Some little ones have even started diapering their dogs and cats because they think it's wrong for them to run around naked," Hsia said.

"They are totally confused. They're destroying books with yellow covers and bringing lessons to school because they don't comprehend the meaning of the stages.

"Teachers say they don't know whether to laugh or cry."

And dumbo parents aren't helping the situation, either. Many are going out and buying dirty books so their kids can turn them in as most valued copies.

"The pornographers are enjoying record sales, and all the lets and girls are having a great time swapping books and reading them before handing them in," Hsia said. "It's a real mess."

Beauty turns into a beast

$350G model sprouts ugly hair — all over her body!

By TOMY DAUPHINS

A model's career came to a screeching halt when thick black hair mysteriously sprouted on her face, arms, stomach, feet and chest!

Doctors initially thought Diana Paz was suffering from a hormone imbalance but treatments failed to make the hair go away.

The misplaced locks are now three inches long. The desperate 28-year-old woman tried shaving, but the black stubble that remained still made it impossible for her to resume her career.

"I'm ruined," Miss Paz told newspapers in her home in Buenos Aires, Argentina. "I used to be so pretty. I was modeling seven days a week. Now I'm a freak, an awful, hideous freak."

Before her ordeal began, Miss Paz was earning almost $350,000 a year.

All that changed in early July. The woman said she looked in the mirror one morning and noticed that her face was dotted with black hair. "I plucked it with tweezers but it came back doubly thick in a matter of days," she said. "I talked to a dermatologist and he said the hormones were out of whack.

"He treated me but nothing changed. The hair kept growing on my face and even sprouted on my chest, feet, stomach and hands.

"I tried hair removal gels and pills but they were hard on my skin and the hair came back anyway.

"I also loved shaving. But the black stubble that remained made it look like I had a five o'clock shadow."

Miss Paz hasn't worked since August 5. She is currently under the care of the multi-talented Jorge Capella, who thinks she might be suffering from a rare disease.

Delighted Debbie Gros is Britain's sexiest bus driver — and the London bus is just the ticket for harried rush-hour commuters.

EOUSN take-off! — and landing — for inventor Adrian Wareham. His winged wonder is designed to delight kids.

Wacky inventor's flying pig soars — sort of

There wasn't much of a crowd but that didn't seem to bother wacky inventor Adrian Wareham as he unveiled his latest creation — a flying mechanical pig named Pigasus.

The event was Bournemouth airport in England and the occasion was Pigasus' maiden flight.

A few onlookers watched with interest as Wareham fired up Pigasus' 50-cc Honda engine and climbed aboard.

The hardrock aviator clung bravely to the clanking mechanical porker as it bounced up and down, up and down, up and down along the runway with much flapping of its wings.

It never got very high off the ground, but it was airborne — at least part of the time — as it hopped down the runway.

But Wareham wasn't disappointed with his new pet's performance.

He created the mechanical toy to entertain children. He plans to auction it off to raise money for children's charities. Last year he raised $3,000 for his favorite charities with another of his mechanical creations, "the perfect woman."

Man bleeds to death — while watching TV!

By DAMON KAY

A 28-year-old man with a nasty cut bled to death — while watching TV!

Police said Kurt Peters knew he was bleeding badly after he slashed his hand with a kitchen knife but didn't seek medical treatment because he wanted to watch a comedy special he had waited all week to see.

The man actually held his hand over a big plastic bucket so he wouldn't bleed on his carpet. His sister found him dead in an easy chair, TV blaring, when she visited his apartment the next day.

"The man obviously knew he was badly cut, otherwise he wouldn't have held his hand over a bucket," said Police Lt. Werner Blume of Wetzlar, West Germany.

"There was absolutely no reason for him to die. A doctor could have stitched the wound in a few minutes. But this guy was more interested in watching TV."

Peters' sister, Helga Erb, said her brother dreamed of becoming a stand-up comic and had talked about nothing but the TV special for a week before his death.

Judging from the evidence found in his apartment, the young man had been eating salami for a snack tray when he sliced open his hand.

"Four fingers were cut to the bone," Lt. Blume told reporters.

"But all he did was wrap a washcloth around his hand and get a bucket.

"It's the craziest thing I've ever seen."

Police said Peters knew he was bleeding badly after he slashed his hand with a kitchen knife but didn't seek medical treatment because he wanted to watch a comedy special he had waited all week to see.

The man actually held his hand over a big plastic bucket so he wouldn't bleed on his carpet. His sister found him dead in an easy chair, TV blaring, when she visited his apartment the next day.

"The man obviously knew he was badly cut, otherwise he wouldn't have held his hand over a bucket," said Police Lt. Werner Blume of Wetzlar, West Germany.

"There was absolutely no reason for him to die. A doctor could have stitched the wound in a few minutes. But this guy was more interested in watching TV."

Peters' sister, Helga Erb, said her brother dreamed of becoming a stand-up comic and had talked about nothing but the TV special for a week before his death.

Judging from the evidence found in his apartment, the young man had been eating salami for a snack tray when he sliced open his hand.

"Four fingers were cut to the bone," Lt. Blume told reporters.

"But all he did was wrap a washcloth around his hand and get a bucket.

"It's the craziest thing I've ever seen."

drunk or high on drugs at the time of his death were timed by police.

An autopsy revealed that the man was minor as a judge, said Lt. Blume, adding: "The only thing wrong with him was that he cared more about a television show than he did his own life.

"For his sake, I hope he had a good time watching his show.

"For his sake, I hope he died laughing."

Judge runs newspaper ad to nail deadbeat parents

By PAULA FALCO

A judge got big results with a newspaper ad warning 142 parents behind in their child support payments that he'd send them to jail if they didn't appear in court.

Judge Stephen E. Levin placed the ad in the Philadelphia Daily News and listed the names of 136 men and 6 women. He offered them, "ONE LAST opportunity to appear and work things out. Appear in court Friday or YOU WILL BE JAILED!"

Incredibly, the ad worked. Of the 142 Philadelphia area

them appeared in court on Friday and 15 others surrendered earlier in the week and resumed support payments.

Several of the men who were waiting their turn in court said they'd been alerted to the ad by friends.

"When I went to cash my check, the guy told me," said one man who didn't want to be identified. "I couldn't believe they put it in the paper. I felt like I had murdered somebody or something."

The ad cost the court $6,325, and Judge Levin said if it proves cost effective, he'll run others.

Water turns boy, 4, into raging monster

. . . until bizarre allergy is finally discovered!

By PETE COOKE

The desperate parents of a tiny terror who ran around the house screaming at the top of his lungs day and night, finally regained control of their home after discovering that the boy is allergic to water!

Mr. & Mrs. Wade hope the allergy to water will help their son Tom lead a normal life.

Karen Wade met her little angel turned into a holy terror on the day the family moved eight miles to a new home in Dyserth, Wales.

Immediately 4-year-old Tom underwent a radical personality change. He constantly ran through the house screaming, until he eventually fell into bed exhausted.

"Other neighbors thought he was dreadful," said Mrs. Wade. "But I knew something was wrong."

Tom's desperate parents finally turned to Dr. Elizabeth Oliver, who specializes in treating hyperactive children. Dr. Oliver suspected that Tom might be allergic to the tap water in the family's new neighborhood and one day [illegible] "I could tell by his reaction that his body was intolerant," the doctor said. "His muscles went weak. The water seems to have natural chemicals which affected Tom."

Since discovering the source of Tom's problem the Wades have been making regular trips back to their old neighborhood to fill jugs of water for Tom.

Blockbuster kiss-and-tell book reveals . . .

Liberace was a stallion — not a sissy!

Fancy-pants pianist Liberace may have looked like a sissy-boy, but behind closed doors he was all man — a rock 'em, sock 'em lover who drove the ladies wild!

"The Liberace I knew was gentle and so soft-spoken, but he was a real Rambo between the sheets," says former French sexpot Claudine Longet. "I know because I was there.

"It's preposterous to even talk about him being gay. Lee loved women — and he loved them by the dozens."

Claudine Longet

The [illegible]-turned-actress now makes those startling revelations in a soon-to-be-published autobiography detailing her flings with Hollywood hotshots like Richard Burton, Cary Grant — and the sequin-studded pianist she called Lee.

"I've been with a lot of men with big reputations, but Lee was the greatest lover of them all," says ex-wife Claudine, 57.

"We met in the '60s and I thought he was terribly handsome and charming. I'd heard the stories about him being gay, but the first time he got me alone, he proved how ridiculous those rumors were.

"And after that, he proved it to me at least four times a night. All that trembling and prancing was nothing but a great big act to keep love-starved fans out of his hair." — Special to Weekly World News

'All his prancing was just an act'

REVEALED: Liberace's bubble-bath escapade was just a front, according to a startling new book written by a French actress.

THE real Liberace was 100 percent man.

CINDY AND DAVID GLENN: WE ARE

THE LIVING PROOF THAT ANYONE CAN LOSE WEIGHT WITHOUT DIETING!*

Thanks to ACCELERATED WEIGHT L[illegible]

FREE Surprise Gift if you order within 10 days

David lost 61 lbs in 41 days!
"Only 12 more to go and I know I'll be easy!"
Cindy lost 59 lbs in 41 days!
"Never gave up pizza and brownies and actually lost 10 lbs per week!"

If you're like most overweight people you've probably waited for a "miracle" to hit the market. After failing time and time again, you're convinced by now that the only thing that's ever going to work for you is a weight loss trick that requires no effort and lets you quietly enjoy your favorite and delicious fattening foods.

In your opinion, what an 'ideal' weight loss method' should do is:

First of all: STOP YOU FROM PUTTING ON MORE WEIGHT, and

Secondly, MELT AWAY EXCESS FAT THAT YOU'VE ACCUMULATED OVER THE YEARS. All this, of course, while the 'ideal' weight loss method of your choice does all the work and you watch yourself getting thinner even though you continue eating anything you like.

WELL, THAT'S PRECISELY WHAT THIS NEW ACCELERATED WEIGHT LOSS METHOD MAY DO FOR YOU!

LOSING [illegible]

The first step is the easiest one: you have to stop gaining more weight. The second step is more difficult to achieve. You have to get rid of previously accumulated fat. Most weight loss methods don't have a problem with step one, but they do with step two.

Dual-Action SVELTEE does not just stop you from gaining. Its most important objective is MELTING AWAY PREVIOUSLY ACCUMULATED WEIGHT!

Clinical trials show that Dual-Action SVELTEE is THE FASTEST AND MOST EFFICIENT ANTI-FAT WEAPON EVER CONCEIVED! It may actually unleash a fat evaporation reaction powerful enough to help you to LOSE 2 POUNDS OR MORE EACH DAY, EVERY SINGLE DAY!

IT'S TIME TO SAY GOODBYE TO EXCESS WEIGHT ONCE AND FOR ALL!

[illegible]

may happen when calories no longer get a chance to turn into ugly fat, and previously accumulated fat is being melted away while you rest. You may lose weight so fast that it takes only a couple of days for people to start asking questions about your new figure. And only one short week later when looking in the mirror you yourself may have a hard time believing that what you're seeing is really YOU!

[illegible]

We invite you to try Dual-Action SVELTEE without any obligation. All we ask is that you give Dual-Action SVELTEE the chance to completely convince you that the NEW ACCELERATED WEIGHT LOSS METHOD is the miracle you've been waiting for and that it simply CAN-NOT FAIL! If at that point you're not genuinely delighted with the results, simply return the unused portion and we'll cheerfully and promptly refund the purchase price you paid. No questions asked!

1. During the day, SVELTEE Step One prevents your body from turning calories into additional fat, and
2. At night, SVELTEE Step Two helps your body to melt away previously stored up fat, while you sleep.

FATAL REUNION!

Divorced couple die when their cars collide — on the way to patch things up!

CROSS at left marks the spot on this lonely stretch of road where the couple died

A divorced husband and wife, racing toward a romantic reunion, died tragically in the twisted wreckage of their cars — after they collided head-on on a lonely stretch of road near the new house they had planned to share.

By SUSAN JEAMSON in Munich

Wilhelm Seera, 49, and his ex-wife Margarethe, 47, were killed instantly when their cars collided at high speed. The couple had decided to end their two year separation and move into a new home together just before the tragic accident occurred.

Wilhelm and Margarethe shortly before their tragic deaths

"Wilhelm loaded his car with empty boxes and headed toward Margarethe's place," said George Jagers, reporter for a news service in Warendorf, West Germany, where the star-crossed sweethearts died.

"At the same time, Margarethe had loaded her car with some belongings and headed toward the new house.

"At a midway point, the two cars had a head-on collision. Police believe the accident was caused by Wilhelm's small dog, which may have jumped between his legs just before the cars met. But nobody knows for sure what happened — there were no skid marks and no witnesses."

Wilhelm and Margarethe married for 23 years and raised two children when they decided to part in 1967.

Wilhelm kept their old apartment and Margarethe moved into a new one in a nearby community.

But after two years of loneliness the elderly pair decided to give marriage another chance.

They bought a small home in Warendorf and busied themselves with preparations for their move.

Friends think the two may have been overjoyed. Police at one point even considered the possibility that they'd made a suicide pact and planned their terrible crash.

But those who knew the couple say they were so happy with their reconciliation that there is no chance they died to gather on purpose.

"It was a terrible, tragic mishap," said a close friend of the couple.

"They had everything to look forward to at the time they died," James said.

"But all it took was a tragic split second of inattention to snuff out their future for good.

[illegible] moving in on our beloved Barbie!

Gorby dolls to invade America's toy stores!

My eyes almost popped [illegible] of my head the other day when I [illegible] nitwit toy makers have [illegible] up this time — a durned Gorby doll, that's what!

Yeah, I know we've been busting a gut to make friends with [illegible] sneaky Russkies and their tard-butted wooden.

But that's no reason to put commie kingpin Mikhail Gorbachev in the same toy department with those great Ken and Barbie dolls.

Let's face it. The only way this dumb Gorby doll is going to be a hit is if

- It wets its pants and cries everytime it comes within three feet of a GI Joe doll.
- It says "Nyet, Nyet" out of both sides of its mouth when you pull the string on its back.
- That [illegible] on its head glows in the dark.
- You're able to unscrew its head and use its body as a vodka flask.
- It spits up cabbage and borscht when you put it on the back.

Another reason the idiot doll makers are so [illegible] mad is it shows how dumb crap we're getting with the Russians.

We'd let our kids play with the Gorby doll but how many George Bush dolls have you seen Russian kids playing with recently?

Zero — that's how many.

So I've got a dust for the Russkies, since we seem to be so hot on making friends with the Soviets.

For every Gorby doll that gets sold in America, toy stores they have to put a Ron Reagan or Pres Bush doll in charge.

My guess is that Russian kids would soon run up like hamsters.

Airplane pilots say man tried to blind them with a mirror

By JACK ALEXANDER

Pilots landing at a small airport in Llano, Calif., said they were having a problem — because a guy on the ground was intentionally blinding them with a mirror.

Four pilots complained to sheriff's deputies they could barely see to land because the mirror reflected the sun's rays.

While Los Angeles County sheriff's deputies were investigating the complaint, they saw a man with a mirror standing by a fence near the runway.

They arrested a 53-year-old retiree identified as Alcide Chaisson and charged him with four misdemeanor counts of obstructing a flight path.

Deputies said Chaisson told them he was deliberately shining the light toward the aircraft because they made too much noise.

Chaisson's home is directly in the flight path of planes landing at the airport. Single-engine and twin-engine planes use the small airport.

"People who live in the flight path of the planes have been grumbling for years," to $1,000 and sentenced to six months in jail.

The couple's three sons saw the shootings. Their sister was visiting a friend.

PAID TO KILL!

Murdered man gave friend money to run him over, say cops

By DICK DONOVAN

For years, troubled Graham Glickfield had begged and pleaded with his friends to kill him — and finally one of them did!

And now one of Graham's closest buddies, 27-year-old engineering student Michael Dowshot is in jail, accused of murder.

TRAGIC Graham Glickfield was tortured by a bizarre disease — so he paid a friend to kill him, say cops

Cops in Fremont, Calif., say Michael turned himself in with the admission that he killed Graham by running over him with his car as he lay on the pavement of a parking lot.

And cops say Michael has admitted that he accepted money from Graham to commit the horrifying act.

Graham suffered from Tourette's syndrome, a disorder of the nervous system that causes tics, jerky motions, bizarre behavior and forced him to live his life as an outsider.

Friends said that in school he was taunted and shunned by classmates who didn't understand his disability.

As an adult, he couldn't hang on to a job and he lived with the constant terror that his friends would desert him.

Those friends described Graham as intelligent and loving with a wonderful sense of humor and an exceptional musical memory that enabled him to play a song on the piano after hearing it once.

But his life was a living hell that drove him to ask his friends again and again to end his life, always offering to pay $500 for the favor.

"Graham was in the habit of asking all of us to do that kind of thing," explained Kathleen Goen, who had known him for 20 years. "Michael wasn't the first one he asked."

Fred Allen, a friend of 10 years, agrees with another friend, Craig Jackson, that Graham was seeking attention.

"It was his last grand bid for cash," Allen said. "I think everybody paid attention.

"I think it was a crazy killing," Allen explained. "I think he thought he was helping Graham."

Whatever the reason, Michael Dowshot is being held in the Alameda County Jail where he's awaiting trial on a charge of first-degree murder.

CHARGED with first-degree murder in the death of his friend, Michael Dowshot is awaiting trial in California's Alameda County Jail.

Wacky suit seeks to turn northern U.S. over to people with blue or green eyes

By MARTHA ATKINS

A man is suing to get back most of the northern United States — so he can set up his own country for people with blue and green eyes!

Robert Brewster of Longmont, Colo., claims his family was given the land by the king of England during Colonial times.

"It is now necessary for the Brewsters to reclaim their land before the federal government loses its ability to return the land," said his U.S. District Court lawsuit.

"The USA has lost its vision and is reporting each morning of massive land purchases by Japan or OPEC."

The lawsuit also said Brewster is a descendant of William Brewster, a founder of the Plymouth Colony in 1620.

Brewster wants only blue- and green-eyed people to live in his country because he says they're superior to

A knife as powerful as the crocodile!

Safety Lock

Finally! The one pocket-knife you've long awaited!

A faithful replica of the knife preferred by all savvy Australian outdoorsmen, preferred for its toughness, for its fast-keen cutting edge, and for its specially designed shape. This knife can serve you in 1,001 different ways, wherever you might be, and whatever you might be doing. It's a knife you can take with you everywhere stashed in its own sturdy sheath — sling on your belt or "at the ready" in your pocket.

At the base of its high-grade, stainless-steel blade is the exclusive serial number which registers your knife and identifies it as belonging to you and you alone.

Safe, too! There is no risk of accidentally cutting yourself. A safety stop firmly holds the blade open during use. Closing the blade is a snap: just press the handle-base.

To symbolize its distinctive shape and "no-nonsense" toughness, each side of the handle is engraved with gill Australian crocodile.

Meet L.A. Bowie — that's 'L' for Linda, 'A' for Ann

Bearded suspect tossed in ladies' lockup after strip search

By JACK ALEXANDER

Burly L.A. Bowie is bearded and looks as macho as a man can look, but cops were stunned when they discovered the "L" stands for Linda and the "A" is for Ann.

The officers assigned to strip-search Bowie, 39, when he was jailed on a conspiracy to commit robbery charge were amazed at what they didn't find.

"When a 210-pound man drops his drawers, you expect to see certain things," said Officer Fred Landy. "Sure, we were surprised."

Bowie explained the physical discrepancies by saying there had been an accident, then there had been surgery and Larry Bowie became Linda Bowie. The shocked guards weren't sure whether to lock Bowie up with men or put him with women in the Prince George's County jail in Maryland.

After careful examination of the brawny prisoner, jail officials put him in a cell block with the women.

Bowie was charged in connection with a $6,000 robbery of a 7-Eleven store. His bond was set at $35,000.

The heist is one of more than a dozen armed robberies cops say were committed by a gang that included the two men.

The sons, Damon, 19, and Christian, 21, are also in jail on murder charges.

His sons have been charged with murder in the execution-style slayings of a Bowie's Restaurant manager and chef in which two others were wounded.

Bowie claims he is the father of the two men, but police are trying to determine whether he could be their biological mother.

Officer Landy said Bowie looks and talks like a man and has no feminine characteristics.

"If you put him in a lineup with nine other men and asked a straight to pick out the woman, Bowie probably would be the last one he would pick," said Officer Landy.

LINDA ANN BOWIE, 39, was jailed on a conspiracy charge.

'Bo... surprised,' says arresting officer

Great gramps' ghost appears at christening

Great grandpa Reg Wain has been dead for 11 years — but that didn't prevent him from showing up at a family christening.

The old-timer's face can be clearly seen in a photo taken by his daughter, Elizabeth Jones of Doncaster, England.

"He is hovering in a silver cloud behind the baby's head. The likeness can only be Dad," she said. "I have always believed that people go on after death. Now I'm convinced of it."

Fritz Pfenning of Doncaster, which developed the film, says it is doubtful that a fault in the negative caused the apparition.

"I don't believe in these things, but even I can see his face," says Elizabeth's hubby

Old lady locked 55 hours in coffin-sized closet

A frail old woman was crammed into a tiny closet by a burglar — where she was trapped for more than 55 hours!

Worried neighbors called police when they noticed hysterical Hilda Gillard, 68, from the portable wardrobe closet that could well have been her coffin.

"Whoever did this thought he was giving up," said a police detective. "It's a disgusting [illegible] which on a determined old woman."

The fragile widow was easy prey for the burly burglar who broke into her home in Exeter, England. She was dragged upstairs by the brute who demanded her jewelry.

He crammed her into the heavy portable clothes closet and told it Devonians on the floor to the resident's escape.

"There was nothing she could do," said the detective. "She was trapped."

After ransacking the old woman's home, the burglar and possible accomplice left — without caring whether she lived or died.

"It is normal for old people to be left alone for long periods," said the detective. "The grateful old lady may well have died."

"They were heartless pranks to leave her crippled like that," he said. "She was so lucky to live."

Mrs. Gillard was taken to Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital, where she was resting comfortable.

Let's [illegible]lize drugs to keep the nation from going to pot!

Dear Dotti: It seems like half the country is on drugs and the situation is getting worse every day. I think we should legalize them so we control sales and identify and help addicts. What do you think? — Liberal in Pittsburgh

Dear Liberal: I think drug pigs should be shot on sight if CIA brigade had any guts they would have preserved the drug supply and GIVEN the stuff away 15 years ago. Then we wouldn't be in the mess we're in today.

Confidential!

Dear Pat in L.A.: I saw your picture and I wouldn't take you to a dog fight.

Dear Leslie in Detroit: Response. Ahh, beautiful but you have to PAY them to get the benefits.

Dear Bored in San Antonio: There are a lot of good mammals out. Why don't you have one?

Dear Housemaster in Birmingham: The day is a man's heart is left through his stomach and anybody who says so is cooked.

Dear Penny in South Dakota: Your husband is demanding too much. Nine hours a week is plenty.

Dear Lonely in Miami: Send if you've got the kids, available.

My six teases me when I get cramps

Dear Dotti: My sister is a pain. She makes fun of me because I get menstrual cramps and she doesn't. I think it's gross. How can I make her stop? — Cramped in British Columbia

Dear Cramped: Go to the nearest drug and novelty shop. Buy itching powder and rub her underwear with it. It's a crude but harmless form of revenge — and it works!

Haunted house was spooked by convicts

Dear Dotti: I know it's a new year but I just found out that one of the haunted houses a hotel civic group put on last Halloween was staffed and run by prisoners on work release. I ask you, Dotti, is there anything worse than a haunted house where hardened criminals are given the chance to scare the pants off unsuspecting children? What is your opinion of this shocking? I think it's lunacy. — Shocked in Texas

Dear Shocked: There's only one thing scarier than a haunted house staffed by prisoners — a haunted house staffed by guy nuns!

Dotti, please be our fraternity sweetheart

Dear Dotti: My fraternity brothers and I think you're a real babe. Would you consider coming to see us here at the University of Alabama? We'd show you a really good time. What do you say, Dotti? If you don't come, please send a handwritten, 40-color photo. We'd treasure it. — Frat in Tuscaloosa

Dear Frat: If I'm ever in Alabama I'll give you guys a hoot.

Just don't try any rough stuff — I carry a gun.

Shucks! Oysters made me a stud

Dear Dotti: Every day I eat a bushel of oysters and oh my gosh am I'm a super stud. What do you think about that? — Feeling Great in Baton Rouge

Dear Feeling: I think you're lying. I also think you're a nerd.

Thanks for putting parent in her place

Dear Dotti: Congratulations on writing "Dad Is Divorced" straight. She wrote to you a few weeks ago and was upset because a schoolteach told her to control her dad after he knocked over a display of pots and pans.

You told her that parents who can't control their kids should be shot. Well, I whole-heartedly agree with you. I have worked as a schoolteacher and as a county and I'm appalled at what some parents let their kids get away with.

After years of seeing what little monsters some children grow by I know that my own children will be a pleasure to take out in public. I'll make sure of it.

Keep up the good work, Dotti. You got only tell it like it is, you tell it like it should be. — Three Cheers for Dotti in Canada

Dear Three: Thanks for a beautiful and delightful letter from someone who's been there and back.

I wouldn't know what to better myself.

MEET THE WORLD'S FATTEST CAT!

By [illegible] SCRANTON

The World's Biggest Cat is 19 years old and still gaining weight. Tiddles now tips the [illegible] at 31 pounds — and there's no end in sight!

The tub-of-lard tomcat first made headlines in 1983 when June Watson, who adopted Tiddles after he showed up at the ladies' rest room at London's Paddington Railway Station, entered him in an English pet food company's contest to find the world's biggest cat.

Tiddles won paws down — and no wonder. After the cat arrived at the station in 1971, Mrs. Watson fed him a steady diet of cheese, steak, chicken, liver, kidneys and rabbit.

By the early 1980s Tiddles had ballooned to 46½ pounds. Since then he has packed on 4½ more pounds to reach his current weight of 31.

"You'd think he would have lost weight as he got older but no, not Tiddles," said Mrs. Watson. "He's actually gotten more finicky and turns up his nose at anything but the richest foods.

"He always drew three quarts of cream every day.

"A few months ago somebody jokingly gave him a goldfish between two pieces of pumpernickel bread.

"Now goldfish sandwiches are one of his favorite treats."

The tubby tom's daily routine has a lot to do with his weight gain, too.

He sleeps 19 to 21 hours a day.

[illegible] to do anything more vigorous than roll on his back or amble the nine feet between his bed and food bowl.

"Some people think Tiddles is [illegible] but that's just not t[illegible] Watson.

Mom goes undercover to bust drug pushers!

By JACK ALEXANDER

A brave mother of six went undercover for a year to drive sleazy drug dealers out of her hometown — and helped cop nab 28 of the scumballs.

"One of the guys I busted was my lifelong friend," said wife Wendy Stanek. Still, she turned him in.

Wendy, 33, began waging her own personal war on drugs after her son Brian, 15, was killed while riding in a car with teenage pals. Cops found a marijuana pipe tucked in the boot of one of his buddies.

The next day, the determined divorcee began keeping a log of the drug traffic in her hometown of Crystal Falls, Mich.

"I was shocked at how easy it was to buy and sell drugs," she said. "I was determined to do something about that."

CUTEY mom Wendy Stanek with four of her six children.

The Iron County sheriff's department was more than willing to let Wendy make undercover drug buys for them.

Even her ex-husband didn't know she was working for the law during her year undercover, but they didn't like the people she was hanging around with.

Wendy was assigned to her family's cocaine flowers in Crystal Falls, an old-fashioned logging town. "It was a piece of cake," she said. "Just like buying groceries."

Now retired from the narc [illegible] January, 35, told her: "They were getting angry with me," said Wendy.

"Ex-Truck Driver [redacted] $21,108 ■ Month Doing What You Aren't"

By Novelle B. Lewis - Special Feature Writer.

Orlando, FL. - "In only 6 months I went from a whopping $6,000 - and I can take any average person and show them exactly how to do it," declares Lawrence Tabak.

Tabak began a few years ago with humble beginnings as a truck driver. But the cash didn't start to roll in until he discovered the info known mostly within biz.

"It took me only 6 days to set up my system."

Now, in a small town, Tabak has begun to show everyday people, just like himself, how to duplicate his new system.

Already the results have been astounding. Not to mention, one person in St. Augustine wrote that they had made $8,981 in an unbelievable 11 days!

"I'm no smarter than you," he states. "Only, I have discovered an amazing wealth system."

"But the payoff is the future," he says. "And you are allowed driving your sparkling Mercedes, BMW, or Cadillac. You decide your friends with your new dream home. And people are you refusing like a millionaire."

"You can really be the kind of person that you always wanted to be."

And what's more," he adds, "to make an extra $30,000, my way, requires little effort."

"Look, there's no magic wand, and you'll [illegible] work. It does take time and work. But it's never a "do fast," he adds. "I only want people who are willing to put forth some effort to see it."

Now, you may see more of Tabak, for if you are a real "Go Getter" you will make more money. And please, all the nice part is that you are the highest of your friends and family.

Tabak has offered to help others decide to explore who want to learn his new wealth system. Simply send your name and address to

"Tabak INFO" [illegible] BOX N, 423, Suite 6, Longwood, FL 3750.

Sending $5 to cover postage, processing and handling is greatly appreciated, though not required. He will mail all to you.

Chain-smoker kicks 30-year habit

. . . then chokes to death on wad of nicotine gum!

By SCOTTY PAUL

A chain-smoking lawyer kicked his cigarette habit after 30 years and choked to death — on a piece of nicotine gum.

Michel Hermant was defending a client in court when he suddenly grabbed his throat, gagged and slumped to the floor.

Efforts by an emergency team to force the gum out of his throat failed and Hermant, 52, was rushed to a hospital in Baltimore, Maryland. He was dead on arrival. Two months before his bizarre death the popular attorney had been told by doctors that he would die of heart failure unless he stopped smoking.

"He had smoked for 30 years and suffered two heart attacks because of it," said Dr. Jacques Rousselot.

"I warned him to quit smoking or it would kill him. I even gave him the gum and got special permission from the authorities for him to chew the gum in court."

Hermant had been told that his heart was giving out because of the habit.

He was having terrible difficulty in trying to get rid of the nicotine gum apparently while hanging over the judge's bench.

Hermant's gum habit was as bad as his craving for cigarettes. In fact at one point he was chewing four packets of gum a day.

Just two with a mouthful of bubble gum Mr. Hermant was very distinguished looking. It was strange to see him chewing away all the time."

A spokesman for the courthouse where Hermant died said the Maker said it appeared he may have accidentally swallowed the piece of gum.

Emergency crews persevered desperately trying to get Hermant breathing again. But it was too late. Nothing could save him.

DOUBLE DECKER DANGLER

A Cape Town, South Africa, bus skidded on a patch of oil and crashed through a railing and wound up hanging dangerously over the side of a bridge. Amazingly, the driver and his passengers were able to scramble to safety after the unscheduled stop. "We didn't panic," said a rider. "That's how we all survived."

Homeless bum [redacted] with $3 in his pocket — and $200,000 in the bank

By DICK DONOVAN

Street pauper Morris Siegel died the way he chose to live — alone and unnoticed in an alley — with $3 in his pocket and more than $200,000 in the bank!

The 73-year-old scavenger had shunned the wealth he had inherited from his father in the late 1970s, preferring instead to prowl the streets of Los Angeles behind a shopping cart loaded with blankets, newspapers and empty milk cartons.

"I don't want the money," Morris once told a longtime street chum.

"Money is unpleasant to the young. But it would only make me a target for thieves. I like to play it safe. I don't call it cautious to myself."

Old Morris became rich a year ago when the California Division of Unclaimed Property ended a 20-year search for the heir to his father's estate.

The whereabouts of the long-lost excitement seeker baffled by the state controller's office, and only the newest clues ever led to a homeless person.

But even after Morris began to [redacted] he was rich, he wanted no part of the money.

Only pressure from relatives and state officials forced him to reluctantly accept his legacy of $207,431 including interest.

He didn't even bother to show up at a special ceremony the day his inheritance check was presented to a bank just down the street from the alley where he spent most of his nights.

And it was in that alley that Morris died of natural causes. Most likely it was heart trouble that did him in, and L.A. authorities feel there's no reason to find out for sure.

In spite of the fortune he had in the bank, the old man was wearing a tattered and well-worn jacket, ragged trousers and wealthy, run-down shoes.

In his pocket, cops found wads of paper, some soggy, a few worn clippings — and a measly $3 in change.

"He never wanted the money in the first place," declared another friend of the streets who had known Morris for 20 years.

"He said he liked where he was living and saw no reason to change it."

And so an old man with $3 in his pocket and a fortune in the bank left this world the way he chose to live it — alone and unnoticed.

And who's to say that Morris Siegel didn't die a happy man?

Gadhafi chases 2 car thieves — with 10,000 army troops!

By JOE BERGER

Loony Libyan dictator Moammar Gadhafi is leading a massive manhunt for two scruffy bandits who hijacked a jeep during a road rally — and cost Mad Mo a measly $20 bet!

GOOEY Gadhafi says revenge

The slaphappy Gadhafi has taken 10,000 heavily armed soldiers into the scorching Sahara Desert to track down the two creeps who ambushed his favorite entry in the famed Paris-Dakar Rally.

And now moody Mummy says he'll have the heathens who cost him 20 bucks swinging on the end of a rope.

"Colonel Gadhafi doesn't care about the money," a government minister said. "He's a very rich man.

"But he just doesn't like to lose, and he's put out the biggest dragnet the world has ever seen to make sure these guys pay for messing with him."

The crackpot colonel bet a pesky the Libyan equivalent of $20 that drivers Patrick Thomas and Patrick Juillet would win the grueling trans-Sahara rally in their Toyota Land Cruiser.

But the two dumbfounded drivers were left high and dry when two crazed Arab riders gave in long, flowing robes ambushed them as they attempted to cross the desert.

"We thought they wanted water or some sort of assistance," Thomas said here. "In fact, they demanded alcohol.

"Then one of them smashed [illegible] with a Kalashnikov automatic in his hand.

"We were terrified," said Thomas. "He began demanding money and then our car. When we refused, he started blasting away. One of the bullets came within inches of my face.

"That's when we decided to give up the car."

Fellow competitors pounced Thomas and Juillet from the bandits' hands and drove them to the nearest outpost.

And when Gadhafi learned his $20 was down the drain, he coughed up every soldier he could find and led them into the desert to track the desperadoes down.

"These thieves will be strung high," vowed the pro-British psychopath.

Leapin' lizards!

Zoo experts have approved the secret to getting lizards in the mood for love — just pop them into a refrigerator for a couple of months.

Zoo experts in Wichita, Kans., and Oklahoma City, Okla., say the refrigerator stint hooks the monsters into believing they've been in hibernation.

After hibernation, higher temperatures spark the male lizard's sperm production . . . and his lust for love.

Sicko sends soiled shorts to socialites! — and they are NOT amused

By IACH ALEXANDER

A weirdo with a sick sense of humor is airing his dirty laundry in public — by mailing his soiled undershorts to San Francisco society's upper crust.

People on the receiving end of the creep's dirty tricks — or down wind, so to speak — are utterly disgusted.

"It's just weird," said California state Senator Quentin Kopp.

"It's sick, sick stuff."

Kopp and several other members of San Francisco's elite have received filthy, large-size men's underwear in the mail along with porno pictures.

"I got a letter and the most disgusting photographs of a white-haired nude in different naked positions," said Kopp. At least 40 people — elected officials, civic and business leaders — have been selected by the sicko to receive soiled undershorts.

"This is the most repulsive case we've ever worked," said one postal inspector. "The stench from urine and you know what else is overpowering.

"Whoever is doing this has a very warped mind. He is an extremely mixed-up person, psychologically, of course. It is a sick."

Postal inspectors are trying to determine whether the lewd packages violate laws against the mailing of obscene materials.

Some of the mailings contain the signatures of the owner and manager of a cab company.

"We don't know if it's a disgruntled employee, or somebody we beat in court, or what," said the cab company president.

Senator Kopp received a mailed note-in which photo of a man. "I just tossed it out. My wife asked about it, but I wouldn't show it to her. It was so filthy," he said.

Are you a shopaholic? Take this quiz!

Are you an out-of-control shopper, constantly spending more than you earn or charging more than you could ever hope to pay back? To find out, take the simple quiz below.

It comes from Jasper E. Dawson's new book, Shopaholics, Serious Help for Addicted Spenders (Price Stern Sloan Inc., Los Angeles, $11.95). Consider yourself hooked on shopping if you have answered yes to five or more questions.

Then seek professional help to bring your shopping habits back under control.

1. Do you take off for the stores when you're experiencing a setback or a disappointment or when you feel angry or scared?

2. Are your spending habits consistently disturbing to you?

3. Do your shopping habits create conflicts between you and someone close to you (spouse, lover, parents, children)?

4. Do you buy items with your credit cards that you wouldn't buy if you had to pay for them in cash?

5. When you shop, do you feel a rush of euphoria mixed with pangs of anxiety?

6. Do you feel you're performing a dangerous, reckless, or forbidden act when you head for the shopping mall?

7. When you return home after shopping, do you feel guilty or embarrassed?

8. Are many of your purchases seldom — or never — worn or used?

9. Do you lie to your family or friends about what you buy and how much you spend?

10. Would you feel lost without your credit cards?

11. Do you worry about money excessively — but then go out and shop?

12. Do you spend a lot of time juggling accounts?

Vet: Table scraps make pooches fat

Feeding Fido table scraps and dog biscuits will make him fat, say vets.

Treats and table scraps are the most common cause of obesity in pet dogs, according to Donal McKeown of the University of Guelph in Ontario, Canada.

"Most commercial dog food is of adequate quality and anything you add to it interferes with its balance," said McKeown.

Animals generally only eat to fill their caloric needs, so giving them other foods overrides their internal control mechanisms and leads to weight gain, he added.

Save my baby from voodoo curse, frantic mom pleads!

By JACK ALEXANDER

A terrified mom feared someone had put a deadly voodoo curse on her baby daughter when she found $70 on her doorstep.

Mary Durandis ran a rooming house on Lake Worth, Fla. Her apartment and beggar's purse...

...to protect the tot. Kindhearted neighbors had given her the money because she was behind in the rent. But Mrs. Durandis, a Haitian native, was otherwise...

"She believes a woman who is now the girlfriend of the baby's father put a death curse on the child," said a neighbor.

Police finally quieted the frightened woman, but they were called back in her April...

...death. The next day, when Mrs. Durandis ran on her doorstep, trying to ward off the evil...with chants and prayers.

They turned the baby over to social workers and took the mother to court to establish a home for the infant. [illegible]

Suspicious wife's diary sends sex monster to prison

By JACK ALEXANDER

A sex fiend was convicted of seven assaults on women and sent to prison — because of his wife's diary.

Suspicious wife Wendy Maslin began keeping the initials record because husband Paul wanted until after their marriage to admit his criminal past.

"He said he'd been jailed for rape 10 years earlier. I didn't want him after that, so I made notations in my diary," said Wendy.

Based on descriptions of the attacker by seven rape victims in Southampton, England, Paul, 27, became a suspect.

A detective was sent to question Paul, but got more than an earful from Wendy.

The wily wife's diary noted Paul's daily movements when he wasn't at work as a mechanic and much more damaging information.

Wendy's diary placed Paul in the vicinity of each sexual assault.

"It was more than a string of coincidences," said Police Inspector Nicholas Corey.

Cops victim had told police she ripped the front of her assailant's long-sleeved blue shirt in the attack. Wendy's diary noted her husband had an identical shirt that had been torn on the same date.

"Another victim said she had scratched her attacker's hand," said Wendy. "I had seen scratches on Paul's hand and noted it in my diary."

Police picked up Paul at the tube repair shop where he worked as a mechanic.

"We put him in a lineup and every victim identified him as their attacker," said Inspector Corey.

Paul eventually admitted seven indecent assaults and was sentenced to 21½ years in prison. "We would never have nailed him without the diary," said Inspector Corey.

RETIRE IN MEXICO ON $16 A DAY

(Special Publisher Box Peron announced release of the new edition of Paradise Found: How to Live in North America's Best Climate for Under $300 a Month. The book reveals how over 25,000 Americans live the good life on a beautiful, 60 mile long lake resort area in the mountains of Mexico. Please read the exclusive interview.

Question: Where is this paradise located?

Answer: It's simple to get. You can drive there in a few days over highways in the U.S. By air, it's just a few hours away.

Question: Why do so many Americans live there?

Answer: The climate is near perfect year round. It's often called the world's best climate. Prices are ridiculously low. It's one of the cheapest places to live in the entire world. Many people live contentedly on social security and small pensions.

Question: Besides the near perfect climate and low cost of living, what else draws Americans there?

Answer: The sheer beauty of the place. You're on a magnificent lake 60 miles long, located in the mountains. You'll breathe fresh, clean, unpolluted air. You'll see stunning colors. Blue water, green mountains, red and yellow flowers.

I have traveled throughout Europe, the Caribbean and Hawaii and never have I seen such an enchanting place. That's why I call the book Paradise Found. It's the closest thing to paradise you'll ever find.

Question: How do the local people treat Americans there?

Answer: You'll be treated with warmth and kindness. They love Americans. We provide much of the jobs in the area. Imagine you can have a maid, gardener or cook for about $25 an hour. And you'll be paying more than the going wages.

Question: Do Americans get homesick?

Answer: Not at all. You have an American library there, medical and American-style shopping facilities and many social activities. Best of all, you'll be living in one of the world's top climates for a fraction of your present living costs.

Question: What else does the book cover about the Paradise?

Answer: The book explains everything you need to know. How to get there, what it costs. Where to eat, what to do. You'll discover how to buy a home or real estate, more. How to earn extra money.

Whether you're looking for a place in retire, a low-cost vacation spot or somewhere to get away from it all, this book has something for you.

Question: Sounds like you've really hit on something here. How can readers get a copy of Paradise Found?

Answer: You can order direct from the publication and save. Send only $12.95 plus $1 postage and handling to United Research Publishers, 248 South Highway 101, Dept. WP 01, Solana Beach, CA 92075. You can

Surfers sail in to snatch couple from death in raging floodwaters

By SUSAN JAMISON

Quinton Richard and Marie Ehrich were inches from death when a raging sea flooded a beach road and swamped their car — just seconds before young windsurfers sailed to and rescued them.

The elderly couple were stranded on a flooded beach road when an unexpectedly high tide ripped through Chiboden Purlieu England and engulfed their car. Richard, 86, and Marie, 83, were up to their waists in water as the car windows began to cave in and waves were crashing over the car roof.

"The road is normally safe to drive down," Marie said. "But this time the tide had come right across it. We were completely cut off. The waves were all over us. Then these lovely gentlemen turned up."

Incredibly, the old couple's plight was discovered by a group of surfers who were returning home from a day at the beach with their boards and sails. The moment Craig Byrne and his two pals spotted the oldsters' plight, they went in the rescue.

In spite of the towering waves and high winds, the brave boys rushed in the sea on their surfboards. Then, holding the windsurf crafts steady, they formed a platform on which they hoisted the terrified grandparents and carried them to safety.

Hit and run thief nabbed after 1,000 jobs, cops say

Cops nabbed an escaped con who's believed to have robbed at least 1,000 homes — using only a screwdriver and his running speed!

Larry Brent Thaggard, 46, was recently captured in Gainesville, Fla., while trying to pawn more than $10,000 worth of stolen jewelry.

Last March, he escaped from the Florida State Prison and supported himself by burglarizing homes. One investigator estimates he hit at least 300 homes in Alachua County and another 600 statewide.

He'd use a screwdriver to pry open a window or roof vent and take cash, jewelry, and coin and stamp collections. If he happened to surprise someone at home, he'd take off on foot and he always managed to elude his pursuers.

"That man, by the truest notion, was a clever criminal," said sheriff's spokesman Lt. Spencer Mays.

THE SIZE OF YOUR HEAD TELLS HOW LONG YOU'LL LIVE!

THIS TAPE must be pulled snugly just above the ears to get the correct head measurement.

By TERRY WINKLER

An incredible new study proves it — the size of your head tells how long you'll live!

All you need is a measuring tape and the longevity chart that appears on this page to determine your own life span in seconds.

You'll be measuring in inches. Just be sure to round off to the next highest one. For example, if your head measures 18½ inches, check 19 inches on the chart to determine your life span.

If it measures 20½ inches check 21 inches. It's that simple.

"It's true," said French expert Dr. Jacques Clement of Paris, who discovered the link between head size and longevity.

"The circumference of the head really does tell how long the average person will live. I studied 1,200 men and women who died of natural causes between 1896 and 1950.

"In every case, head size predicted life span with a margin of error of two years or less. I don't know why this correlation exists.

"But it does exist. And it is very clear."

Experts agree that Dr. Clement's study has broken new and important ground.

After reports appeared in European medical journals doctors and researchers published that people can now learn to determine life span at birth with their own tapes.

Tests prove it's accurate to within 2 years, expert says

Your Life Expectancy

Head size inches	Years
16	54-60
17	70-72
18	75-77
19	78-80
20	81-83
21	84-86
22	87-91
23	92-96
24	97-99
25	100
26	101+

"Projected life spans on this longevity chart do not apply to people who abuse their bodies or die in accidents," said Dr. Clement.

"And people who take unusually good care of themselves will probably live longer than the study indicates.

"But for the average person the proportions are amazingly accurate. Average people can find out how long they can expect to live in a few seconds."

Similar studies conducted in Sweden in 1967 and 1968 revealed a link between shoe size and longevity — but the head size method is much more accurate.

As reported in The NEWS last February, shoe size predicts life span with a margin of error of up to six years. Head size is accurate within two years.

If you don't have a measuring tape handy you can measure your head with a belt or string. To get the size of your head in inches, simply wrap the tape, belt or string around your head just above the ears.

If using a belt or string, you'll have to measure it with a ruler or yardstick to determine head size.

Life expectancy ranges appear in the longevity chart above.

Big-mouthed parrot blows his chance to be a star

Humbert the parrot was fired from his acting job after he bit an actor on the ear and squawked "shut up" during a performance.

The 30-year-old African grey parrot also humiliated himself and the actor whose shoulder he perched on when he repeatedly pooped on the man's jacket in front of a theater full of people.

"This parrot is not out shit for showbiz," said Humbert's creator, actor Frank Windsor. "He doesn't know how to behave on stage."

Humbert's big chance to star in stardom came when he was given a leading role in a production of Treasure Island. He did fine in rehearsals but during the first performance at London's Mermaid Theater, the bird watched it all very thing.

Windsor, dressed as Long John Silver, emerged on stage with Humbert on his shoulder. But as soon as Humbert saw the bright lights, he turned his back. Then, as Windsor made a speech, Humbert dumped on his velvet jacket and shrieked "shut up." Moments later, he clambered down on Windsor's

Naked thief turns into human icicle

. . . after he gets stuck in restaurant's vent — & freezes!

By JACK ALEXANDER

A stupid burglar stripped naked so he could squeeze through a vent into a Chinese eatery, got stuck and froze to death.

"He looked like one very big [illegible] after being exposed to frigid 3-degree temperatures for about 10 hours," said Fo[illegible] Det. Detective Hugh Grimaldi.

The dead man was identified as John Goldsmith, 32, a jobless delivery truck driver with a record of burglary arrests.

Goldsmith's legs were dangling from the vent when the restaurant owner opened for business and saw

He apparently had taken off his clothes so he could squeeze through the vent but got stuck between a couple of pipes, said Det. Grimaldi. "He covered his [illegible] with grease, but even that didn't work," said the detective. "He could have been disappointed, anyway. There was no money in the restaurant."

Your home can be a permanent source of prosperity, harmony, fortune and happiness.

The Cross on the Door

Hundreds of people throughout the world have already witnessed the powers of this sacred cross with protective symbols from centuries passed. It was bestowed to an orthodox monk and preserved in sacred relic only recently. Its extraordinary powers protect your home both day and night. It shows you the way to happiness and to the fulfillment of your needs. It purifies by destroying the negative energies that have been accumulated in your home. It's an incredible story, but it's real and it can change your life!

If you are looking for peace of mind, better health, more money, happiness, love... if you feel misunderstood, helpless, a victim of circumstances, if you're tired of suffering and not having what you deserve... if you have been looking for an answer... look for it no more. You've found it!

My business wasn't doing well, I thought I had to close the store. The accident happened shortly after. I read about the Cross on the Door that always helps and protects, so I put it on the door. Almost every night, my unpleasant neighbor coming in Yesterday I made $ 710, and it was a normal day. Sometimes I make upto $ 900 in one day! I had to hire an employee as today he I tell everybody the Cross on the Door saves lives!
H. P., Spain

After I received results in the mail I was desperate. I was thinking of stealing in order to feed my kids. Luckily, a friend gave me the Cross on the Door present. I was so happy I jumped on my bed and as a few days I found a job that paid me $ 360 a week. The bills are now all paid. I am becoming the right hand man! That's why I'll always have the Cross on the Door, and I am grateful that a helpful one when I really needed it.
M. B., France

I had such a horrible experience when my husband left me for a younger woman. I didn't want to leave the house or talk to anyone. I would just sleep and cry myself to sleep again. I moved to the Cross on the Door as a last resort, and it [illegible] after I started to use them. At first, I suspected an earthquake or a party and there I had an argument. We had to leave and I was very happy. And I'm not at all to the Cross on the Door!
E. F., Switzerland

Just a week of the after-mentioned was a death. I am so convinced of surgery. But the doctor told me there was no other solution. Every had back. From the day I put the Cross on the Door it got better. I felt the need to read a second day soon. After finishing the book, my pain doctor would not believe my operation and was into consultation. It might be coincidence, but I believe it was the Cross on the Door!
B. B., Spain

There are cases of disagreeable who have come into the Cross on the Door with the People like you, who perhaps had given up hope, or thought the evil powers did not exist. The story underground the world is paranormal, or have their lights and work plans free of all negative influences. They had the necessary keys to other harmony and prosperity in health.

Once the Cross on the Door is activated, you will automatically experience changes in your life such as:

- You suddenly feel a way to obtain the things you want most.
- More money and events bring you need to live rich.
- Calmly and strengths and talking comes back you.
- You no longer fear about your final protection against evil.
- No more fights or hatred.
- Tensions and negative influences in your home disappear.

THE HISTORY OF THE CROSS

According to evidence, the Cross on the Door is carved back to the Byzantine, a known orthodox monk who lived centuries ago in Turkey. Quoted, the Cross on the Door is an unconventional item, surrounded by mystery and cold like the one could understand how he managed to have lived to [illegible] and pious to death. Or why the cold and cruel world took him. He seemed to be protected from evil. The Cross on the Door is not [illegible] to be considered as a work. Why Constantine said him that he might appear as to have by a dream and said "If you place the Cross on the Door of your home, you will never be disturbed by the devil, you will never lose your daily bread and all the [illegible] of evil will be removed."

After his death, the Cross on the Door was [illegible] and many people took the [illegible] Cross [illegible] a person with [illegible] and others also belonged to the Eastern Church, the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

The tree was killed by the lightning strike and as the bark fell off, the face, eyes, nose and mouth complete with teeth, gradually appeared, says Frank Beardsley, who discovered the amazing face on the tree.

Co-workers' joke turns teen into a human fireball!

A teenage factory worker was horribly burned and [redacted] co-workers doused [redacted] with paint thinner — and struck a match!

He's doused with paint thinner — and set afire by mistake!

Tony Tucker, 17, suffered severe burns over 80 percent of his body and died after a brief stay in the hospital.

Two men were charged with manslaughter in the young man's death. But even the authorities admitted that Tucker was the victim of a prank gone haywire.

By LINCOLN BEARDS

Prosecutor Wilson Wilson said Tucker was a new employee at the factory in Knutsmorden, England. And like all new workers there, young Tucker agreed to go through an initiation in which senior workers doused victims with paint thinner.

"They held Tucker down and splashed his clothes and at that point it all changed to be no good fun with lots of laughing and joking going on," said Wilson.

"But when Tucker went to the rest room to wash off and change clothes somebody said 'Get the matches.'

"These were literally fatal words."

Factory worker Ian Flannery said he warned his friends not to mess around with matches.

But a couple were struck before Tucker could change clothes — and the tragic mish went up in flames.

"There was a big flash of light and a lot of screaming," said Flannery. "Tony ran out of the rest room back into the factory.

"His body was on fire.

"Tucker had a burning T-shirt around his neck and his trousers were burning around his ankles."

Flannery put the fire out with an extinguisher but the damage was done and Tucker's body was horribly burned.

Tucker died in the hospital three weeks later, authorities said.

Even Pilgrims got a bang out of popcorn

Long before there were movies there was the favorite movie snack — hot, crispy popcorn.

In fact, America's love affair with the popped kernels of corn dates back to the time of the Indians, according to the Popcorn Institute.

Indians brought a decorative bag full of the snack to the first Thanksgiving feast and used it as goodwill gifts during peace talks with the English colonists.

Tribes all over the New World depended on popcorn for food, religious ceremonies and even art work.

They wore the popped kernels as corsages, made crowns and necklaces of them and even threw them like flowers on their hair.

Experts believe the popped snack was discovered accidentally when some corn dropped into a fire and popped out. From then on, Indians used it over an open fire to pop it or bury it in hot sand until it exploded.

But popcorn didn't become a really big business success until the 1920s when movie theaters began selling it. Now it's among the big snack favorites of Americans.

POPCORN became big business in the 1920s when they began to sell it in movie

Wife locks gun-loving husband up in a cage

Bill Ball accused Catherine Ball has been charged with false imprisonment

By DALE AMES

A wife locked her husband in a pen like a prisoner of war because he spent all their money on guns and dreamed about becoming a soldier for hire!

Catherine Ball, 32, was arrested and charged with false imprisonment after she found Robert Ball shooting at her by [illegible] outside the couple's [illegible] east of Agen, France.

But after she had her husband was getting off light. She had been locked away for almost three months and weighed only 91 pounds when he was set free.

If he had starved to death Mrs. Ball would be facing a charge of murder.

"That woman would have made a great Nazi," Police Sgt. [illegible] said.

THE Ball farmhouse is located east of Agen, France

Claude Bastier told newspapers in Agen:

"She locked her husband in a pen for bigger than a dog run last November and has since been keeping him there unfortunately.

"Mr. Ball is almost six feet tall but he weighed less [illegible] pounds when he was found. It is clear that his wife was starving him to death.

Love-starved hippo tries to mate with scuba diver!

By SCOTTY PAUL

A South African scuba diver barely escaped with his life during a terrifying underwater tryst with a lovesick hippo — who had a crush on him.

"I feel like a woman who has been sexually ravaged," said Wouter Brink. "It's making reports and he thought I was his mate."

The bizarre attack took place in the Hartes River near Messings, South Africa, where Brink, 33, and two of his scuba diver buddies had gone for a swim.

"We were looking for a little relaxation," Brink told a Johannesburg newspaper. "But that hippo was looking for love."

Brink was in about 20 feet of water when he first saw the 1½-ton hippo which weighed about four times

"The creature quizzed me with his mouth and I went splashing toward the bottom of the river," Brink was quoted as saying.

"The hippo seemed to be in a fit of a frenzy as he pushed me to the bottom of the river. I found myself trapped against a rock with a great hippo rubbing up against me."

One of the hippo's romantic rubs broke three of Brink's ribs as he was slammed against the rock for 10 terrifying minutes. "I thought he would squash me," said the frightened diver.

Some of his scuba gear was damaged in the attack and he didn't know how much air was left in his tank.

Brink might have gone to a watery grave if it hadn't been for his two diving buddies — Zambua Ndaka and Kamuga Njonga.

One of Brink's buddies yanked hard on the horny hippo's tail while the other poked the beast in the side with a stick. The ruse — and Brink, who collapsed on the shore was exhausted from the 20-minute ordeal. Brink was driven to a hospital by his fellow pals and admitted with three broken ribs, a fractured right arm and broken right wrist.

"I wasn't too pleased about the publicity or the headlines over the story — 'HIPPO MAKES LOVE TO SCUBA DIVER,'" said Arnold Breitowitch. "And they are used to getting their way."

post statement at the wildlife preserve outside Johannesburg, the young soldier is lucky he is alive.

"Hippos normally are fierce lovers who don't stop until they are completely satisfied," said Arnold Breitowitch. "And they are used to getting their way."

LUCKY scuba diver Wouter Brink escaped with his life after terrifying encounter with an amorous love-sex hippopotamus.

Electronic ankle bracelet trips up drug dealer

Hit-and-run motorist drives 9 miles with corpse on hood!

The shattered, bloody body of a young hit-and-run victim was carried for nine miles on the hood of the car that struck him — before the driver finally stopped to call for medical help!

But by the time paramedics arrived, Gilbert Nettles Jr. — the father of a year-old son — was dead!

That's the ugly scenario given in Greece, N.Y., will present to a grand jury when they press for felony indictments against James A. Van Antwerp Jr., 23, the alleged driver of the death car.

He chose to hit motorcycle cop Nettles when he spotted the officer on the highway, Police Commander David Phillips told The Sentinel.

Phillips said the victim's body was on the hood of Nettles' motorcycle when Van Antwerp's car finally came to a stop.

Commander Phillips said that Nettles, 26, a motorcycle officer for [illegible] was walking to the front of his motorcycle when he was struck by Van Antwerp's car.

Van Antwerp, who was released on $1,000 bail, is charged with leaving the scene of a fatal accident and driving while intoxicated.

Do YOU hold the key?

Just the other side of that mental door at the Top of Your Mind are unimaginable heights and depths — worth far more than gold, at least as you see it.

The entire world had the Upper Room. There lives are spent wandering through an endless maze of fruitless effort.

But those who are perceptive enough are startled suddenly, one day, to find the door ajar. And they enter it. Or, more accurately, they are drawn to it by their own unique psychological composition.

Are you right under the door search for the answers to life's problems, the knowledge of your life before birth, after death and the interval between? Do you sense that your Higher Self — the one in greatest fulfillment of the Higher Laws of Universe — not Church knows more?

A look at the Room at the Top of Your Mind can be found in Adam's Book of Life. The writer of Genesis presented The Book of Life primarily for mankind's view of ancient wars, coupled with the intuitive perception of modern psychics and mystics. And combined with many others.

If you need a little help now about your Self, your unseen helpers, or with the principles available to improve self-mastery and eternal growth, ask for your free copy of Your Place in the Golden Age. It's waiting in the first step up the stairway to the Room at the Top.

Quake-proof tombstone!

A Japanese stonemason has patented a tombstone that will never fall down — not even during an earthquake!

Tomihisa Nagiya of Tokyo designed the earthquake-proof tombstone because it's so expensive to replace the elaborate markers the Japanese erect to reflect their deep respect for ancestors.

Nagiya, 41, says the design will even be able to withstand an earthquake as large as the one that destroyed much of Tokyo in 1923. That one registered 7.9 on the Richter scale and killed 140,000 people.

MIRACLE RECOVERY

. . . for girl [illegible]ked by ax-maniac!

By MARTHA ATKINS

After a madman attacked little Paula Hughes with an ax, docs said that if she survived, she'd be a vegetable for the rest of her life — but she proved them wrong and now she's a real-life wonder woman!

Paula was just 10 years old when the crazed maniac beat her over the head 18 times as she was walking home from school. Her skull was smashed in and she was left with severe brain damage.

But now, 14 years later, the courageous 24-year-old Welsh woman has dashed all the medical reports. She lives her life to the fullest and there's nothing too adventurous for her to try. Paula's hobbies include:

- Horseback riding
- Cave exploring
- Bicycling
- Mini car racing
- Flying
- Skydiving
- Rolling
- Waterskiing
- Jetskiing

"I don't see why I shouldn't try everything," said spunky Paula who's an electronics assembler in Bangor, Wales.

"I admit it's not easy at times. But if I want to do something and I can't do it like everybody else, I do it in another way."

Paula is not only adventurous, but she's also smart as a whip. She even won Best Student of the Year Award last June at Newport Art College in South Wales.

"It's been a long hard struggle over the past years but to see Paula then and now is proof that all the others had been done step worthwhile," said her mom Gennifer, 43. Paula's doctors are nothing short of amazed at her progress.

"She's come along by leaps and bounds," said Keith Prescott, unit director of the institute which arranged the therapy programs that put Paula on the road to her remarkable recovery.

"A lot of her progress is due to Paula and her mother's determination, courage and strength."

"She's made the miraculous most. It was hard on them, but I'm glad we stuck at it," Paula said.

And Paula's mother is sure her daughter can do anything she sets her mind to.

"She has far more courage than me," said Gennifer. "Paula has been disappointed and hurt many times, but she keeps bouncing back with that spunky smile of hers."

How To Collect Social Security At Any Age

Cash-In on Government Give-Away Programs

Special: A new book written by a former Federal investigator tells how every American can collect their share of the $250 billion that will be handed out this year by Uncle Sam. The book explains how to collect: social security before retirement, small business loans, income supplements, education benefits, farm loans, unemployment, job training, free welfare and food stamps. Here are just a few facts covered:

- How 37 million Americans, averaging around age 30 collect monthly social security checks
- How to make the entire family eligible for social security, even your youngest child
- How you may be stealing yourself out of social security benefits
- How almost 3 million widows get monthly social security checks
- How to qualify for disability payments (over 7.5 million people suffering but thousands more eligible)
- How to work and still collect social security
- How to find out how much you have paid into social security
- How to know when to get your full social security
- How to get a lump sum payment
- How to get a $500,000 loan to open your own business (3 people and the book will tell you exactly how to do it)
- How to collect a $294,800 loan to buy a farm or ranch, including livestock and equipment
- How to collect a $27,000 loan for a mobile home, including lot
- How to collect a $15,000 loan for home improvements
- How to collect over $400 a month for retired college trade school or get on-the-job training
- How to get free medical coverage, including glasses and dental care.
- How to collect hundreds of dollars a month to pay your apartment rent including utilities.
- How to get up to a $100,000 small business loan, even if you are poor and unemployed.
- How to obtain thousands of dollars in free Federal surplus

With the help of the book, many families are now living a more comfortable existence.

Although the book "How To Collect Big Dollars From Uncle Sam" could mean thousands of dollars to you, it is being offered at only $12.95 (plus $1 postage & handling).

GIANT HOBOSCOPE

By Countess Sophia Sabah

ARIES
Mar. 21-Apr. 19

Underlying conflicts in your marriage or longtime relationship are coming to a head. Play it cool and both you and your partner will end up happy and satisfied with life.

This is a tricky week for finances. Check carefully before you spend a lot of money.

Saturday is your best day this week.

Participating in physical activity at this time should rid you of the tensions that are building during these weeks.

TAURUS
Apr. 20-May 20

This week the spotlight is on children. Family members and an elderly neighbor who are all in need of your assistance.

The period does not favor money dealings of any kind, especially with a friend or a lover. Mixing money and love could result in a grave misunderstanding.

Saturday is your best day for making positive changes in your life. An afternoon spent at a pageant function with your beloved will bring you a delightful surprise.

GEMINI
May 21-June 20

It's a good time to break into new fields, enroll in vocational classes and/or evening college.

Communicating skills and computer programming are highlighted, and they're the skills of the future.

Signs indicate that this new-life trend will continue into next week, and in some areas will be dependent on another's cooperation. Look to Gemini and Sagittarius for counsel and financial aid.

Luck will surface on the third day of the week.

CANCER
June 21-July 22

Your love life could be dynamite if you'd relax and let it be. Turn up the charm and see where it gets you.

This is the best week to investigate to begin new projects. Surrounding are ideas.

Risky business should be avoided at all costs, but a quiet little investment could bring you a tidy return before the year's end.

The domestic scene is less than serene on the weekend. You find your mate has made plans without consulting you.

LEO
July 23-Aug. 22

Even though you may feel your life is established and unprovocative, a change is not what of this time.

Set short-term goals for yourself right now and wait for cosmic changes (probably within the month) before making decisions.

Play up time for outings on the weekend. Let your family and friends know you won't be available ahead of time to avoid interruptions.

Use the time wisely.

You'll soon have the opportunity to settle a long-standing dispute.

VIRGO
Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Early in the week you can expect good news in the mail — an unexpected windfall with an unique method.

Although Tuesday is your best day, beware of a possible misunderstanding with your mate.

Friends are helpful over the weekend, and you are able to put the finishing touches to a much-delayed project.

A phone call will put you in touch with an old friend — and you'll learn something to your advantage.

LIBRA
Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Your prospects for accomplishing goals are exceptional this week. You have excellent instincts where money management is concerned, whether it is making the household budget or investing sums for gain.

Fortunately, the lunar position highlights travel, so a short trip may be necessary.

The latter part of the week is the best time for making decisions in affairs of the heart.

Family problems occupy your time on Sunday.

SCORPIO
Oct. 23-Nov. 21

The realization of a long-term financial ambition could be a reality this week. Show off-the-record information about your trip and gain you on the inside track.

A midweek dinner date with a delightful Capricorn born into a romantic interlude which could lead the way to a permanent and very rewarding relationship.

Accumulated household chores, as well as interruptions from the telephone and neighbors, will make finding time to relax difficult.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22-Dec. 21

The week finds you with an extraordinary amount of energy.

You're the leader in every activity, creating excitement wherever you go — leaving those around you marveling at your vitality.

An introduction to a stunning Cancer is forthcoming.

Often you're an impulsive romancer who truly believes in love at first sight. But don't be tempted to make a spur-of-the-moment commitment which you could live to regret. Be cautious, and you'll end up happy.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22-Jan. 19

An optimistic period for the dynamic Capricorn. You're in high gear, with all systems go.

Use this period to your advantage. Consider your options and accept problems as challenges.

Focus on both short-term and long-term goals.

At the weekend, keep your wits about you and don't believe everything your friends tell you.

You will meet an attractive, charming newcomer on the scene. Listen to his or her advice!

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20-Feb. 18

The cosmic things heralds a new era in your social life. A romantic encounter by a stone, or possibly a supernatural, will bring about a welcome change.

Also, a long-distance call placed to one you've been neglecting will bring surprising results.

Do not procrastinate on that long-awaiting release you've been toying with. Your time is feasible, and you could raise much-needed extra cash.

Wear red for luck on Saturday.

PISCES
Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Try your luck this week with a financial partner. This is a good period for money matters, and two heads are better than one.

Be careful at home, because an accident could happen if you let yourself get careless.

You find yourself a bit moody on the weekend, so cheer yourself up with the purchase of a small gift.

An attractive member of the opposite sex will make feelings known. You'll be both flattered and interested. Enjoy!

If your birthday is this week . . .

Keeping fit will be difficult as you are unusually susceptible to colds. But good health and high spirits highlight most of the year.

Beware of a stranger who greets you as a long-lost pal then tries to involve you in a financial scheme. This person is trying to con you out of your money.

This will be a luck-filled year for you and sometimes you'll feel that everything you touch turns to gold.

Romance is in the stars for you around the first of the year. Rekindle old flames or an old relationship and maybe add find a new love.

Teen with super hearing gets horrible [redacted] from ordinary sounds

By CINDY O'NEIL

Teenager Wendy Fry's ears are so sensitive she can hear a pin drop across the room — and it's making her life miserable.

"The noise from everyday objects gives me terrible headaches," says 15-year-old Wendy who begs for the sound of silence.

"For instance, the buzzing from the neon lights at school is awful. The loud noise is incredible to me and I just can't stand the electric coffee machine."

Normal teen pastimes make Wendy violently ill within minutes. Listening to the stereo or attending a high school dance give her splitting headaches.

Other girls her age are just beginning fascinated in new clothes and makeup but poor Wendy can't even go shopping without getting sick.

"Not being able to join in with my friends and living my social life used to upset me," says Wendy. "I suppose I'm getting used to it now. I just stay at home and paint or read."

Wendy's hearing is so acute she can hear conversations throughout her family home in Thursley, England.

"If I'm in the kitchen and tell Wendy's sister that lunch is ready," says Wendy's mum Jill, "Wendy can hear me all the way upstairs."

Wendy's parents realized that she had a problem about a year ago. "I was quietly ironing," says Jill. "Wendy asked me if I could keep a whistling noise I couldn't. Then she said, 'Can't you hear that? Right behind?' So I began to ask what else she could hear."

Said Wendy: "I didn't know my parents couldn't hear the iron or the lights. I'd been hearing them for years and thought it was normal."

After Wendy started out several times and painkillers would not ease her headaches, Jill took her daughter to the hospital.

Doctors treated Wendy for suffering epilepsy and even suggested a psychologist before agreeing that Wendy had a rare problem — an extreme sensitiveness of electromagnetic waves. She has tried drugs, earplugs and ear muffs. Nothing has helped ease the pain.

"Unfortunately nothing can be done for Wendy," says Jill. "She will just have to go on suffering."

OUCH! Wendy Fry hangs for the soothing sound of silence.

Weight Loss Pill Is "Incredible" Say Doctors at Nat'l Institute

211 Patients Quickly Lose 20-75 Pounds with Special Pill Plan — "Fat Evaporation" Effect Noted

NEW YORK, NY (Special) - Doctors at the National Institute of Weight Control report remarkable results with a supervised pill given out at a controlled pilot to hundreds of overweight patients.

Observing how 211 patients adhered to the pill plan rapidly lost large amounts of weight, the doctors studied what they called a "fat evaporation" effect noted.

Lose Weight "Automatically"

These experts found you did not like the Primary Pill plan to quickly lose weight. Because the way it helps you lose weight is considered the perfect way to eliminate excess pounds.

In fact, patients who used this drug while dieting as well as normal numbers of hours found that they still lost up to 75 pounds surprisingly fast.

Advised for Overweight Adults

The former director of a major university weight clinic described as amazing phenomenon of the Primary Pill plan. People who said they had tried everything experienced a steady fat loss and calorie reduction just by going on the Primary Pill plan.

Disclosed to People Over 30

If you want to lose 20 to 75 pounds or more, the Primary Pill will be directly supplied to you by the Institute. You will also be provided a free Personal Nutritional Analysis (normally costing $40.00).

Send just $32 for a full 30-day supply, or $50 for a full 60-day supply (make check or money order payable to "NIWC"). Mail it to: National Institute of Weight Control, Dept. Angry man guns down his bean-eating buddy

Gone with the wind!

By SAMUEL JOHN

A 23-year-old man blew his bean-eating buddy away with a .45 because the guy wouldn't stop breaking wind!

Eduardo Valdez could go to prison for 25 years to life in the shooting of Hector Barrera, 25. But he isn't sorry for what he did.

He says he told Barrera he would kill him if he didn't stop passing gas.

"He didn't," said Valdez. "So I did."

The bizarre drama allegedly unfolded while the young men were watching television in Valdez's apartment in Mexico City. In his statement to police, Valdez said Barrera had eaten two quarts of spicy baked beans and started passing gas to beat the band.

"It was funny at first then it got ridiculous," Valdez told cops.

"He made up the whole apartment and still kept cutting loose.

"I opened a window and told him to stop but he just kept right on breaking wind. I said 'I'm going to get my gun and kill you if you keep that up.'

"He said 'I'll blow you away first.'"

Valdez reportedly got a .45 revolver out of his bedroom and pointed the barrel against Barrera's face.

The young man apparently didn't think Valdez was serious and nervously he broke wind again.

At that point, Valdez killed him with a single shot to the head.

The young man is now being held without benefit of bail in a Mexico City jail. He is charged with first-degree murder and is scheduled to stand trial this spring.

"People kill people for a lot of crazy reasons but this is the craziest I've ever heard of," Police Lt. Efrain Garza said. "I've been a cop for twenty-two years. This is the only case

He just kept passing gas, says gunman

Miracle mom's incredible life after death shocker:

INCREDIBLE journey to paradise began on a brass slab. "I found myself lifted higher and higher," said Mildred Jones, as shown in this artist's conception.

'I DIED AND WENT TO HEAVEN'

By MARTHA ATKINS

Mildred Jones knows there is life after death because she's been to the other side, seen paradise — and then came back to tell about it!

She begged God to send her back home — & He did!

The Hillsdale, Okla., woman says that when she was lying in her hospital bed in a coma she heard doctors whispering, "Does she know she's dying?" moments before she slipped away into death.

"I'm furious! I can't die now," Mildred said she remembers thinking. "I have a daughter to take care of!"

She said the next thing she knew, she was lying on a brass rectangular slab and it began to rise into the air like a hydraulic lift in a gas station.

"I found myself being lifted higher and higher and faster and faster. I remember going through a heavy mist and all at once I was standing in what I call a perfect dimension," said Mildred, 53.

"In back of me was mist, and in front of me, I was looking into the most spectacular beautiful place.

There were rolling hills, blue sky and bunches of flowers everywhere. It was breathtaking!

"I could see forms dressed in white robes and their heads were covered with white cloth. A brilliant golden light covered everyone. A warmth and peace came over me. I felt no pain," she continued.

"It was at this moment I knew I was being given a choice. I could merely take one step forward and live in this place forever, or I could go back.

"'Dear God, please let me go back long enough to see my daughter graduate from high school, go into the Air Force, marry and let me be able to see and hold my first grandchild,' I begged."

Mildred said immediately after that, doctors found signs of life in her body even though they were convinced she was dead.

"They were shocked when I opened my eyes," she said. "Within easy an hour, I was out of my coma."

The whole experience began the night before Mildred's 16-year-old daughter Renee found her on the floor in convulsions.

She'd been very sick with hepatitis, a disease in which the white blood cells that fight infection turn on the body, destroying internal organs.

It was three months before she was released from the hospital, but almost a year before she told her daughter about her experience.

"It was such an absolutely personal experience, I didn't want to be ridiculed about it. If there is a place called paradise, I was there," said Mildred. "I can close my eyes and still see it like it was yesterday.

"And best of all, no wishes came true!"

MIRACLE mom Mildred Jones waited almost a year before revealing her shocking experience.

OOPS! Stewardess spills hot coffee in wrong place

A jet passenger is suing an airline company for $1,750 — because a stewardess spilled scalding hot coffee in his lap and he couldn't have sex for a month!

Klaus Lohr, 29, was flying from Munich to Gdansk, West Germany, with Lufthansa Airlines when the accident occurred.

"It wasn't even hot coffee. It was for somebody sitting next to me," said Lohr, who was treated for second and third degree burns on his penis and scrotum. "I was in absolute agony for four weeks. Everything hurt.

"My girlfriend didn't think it was a joke either. She said I was a physical wreck."

MIRACLE image of Virgin Mary mysteriously appeared on cloak in 1531

Shocking study proves . . .

Virgin Mary's image on 459-yr.-old cloak was NOT man-made!

By ROSE GRADY

Each year, virtually millions of believers flock to a church in Mexico City to kneel in prayer before one of the most sacred shrines in the world — a 459-year-old tapestry cloak bearing the stunning image of the Virgin Mary!

A scientist who has examined the revered cloak has declared that the razor-sharp image "could only be of miraculous origin."

"My study proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that the image was not painted in any way known to man," explained Dr. Philip Callahan, a research biophysicist and a recognized expert in infrared studies.

"The colors are amazingly vivid," he said. "The image is of the Virgin Mary with olive skin and black hair. She's wearing a blue mantle and a white robe.

"The cloth that it appears on should have rotted 20 years after it was made."

Other experts who have studied the sacred cloak said they weren't able to come up with one explainable fact that could show the image is of human origin.

Known throughout the world as the Virgin of Guadalupe, even the Catholic Church is vine explanation. "It is not explainable in the natural world," declared Father Mauricio Montemayor, the priest in charge of the Virgin of Guadalupe Basilica.

He said the miracle of the cloth occurred in 1531 when an Aztec Indian named Juan Diego claimed he had seen the Virgin Mary. The Bishop of Mexico demanded proof.

So when Diego saw the Virgin Mary again, he said her he needed to bring back proof. She sent him to a hilltop where Diego found roses blooming — in the dead of winter.

He gathered the roses in his cloak and went to the bishop. It was when the Aztec dumped the roses at the bishop's feet that the two men saw the image on the cloak. It has remained there ever since.

"This convinced the bishop and a church was built on the hilltop," Father Montemayor said. "Now at least 10 million people come each year to view the image."

STEALS ACCIDENT VICTIMS' CORPSES — & EATS THEM

By IRWIN FISHER

An African cannibal was charged with the theft of two corpses after he pulled the bodies from the wreckage of a car and bus crash and ate them for dinner!

George Nxumalo, 35, faces a sentence of up to 50 years in jail if convicted. But he's confident that he can get off the hook.

In fact, he has asked government officials in Mbabane, Swaziland, to let him have his pick of "human road kills" when and if he is released from jail.

"George is a native Swazi. He doesn't think like a civilized person and is convinced that eating the bodies he found was a reasonable thing to do," Isaac Templeton, the cannibal's court-appointed attorney told reporters in Mbabane.

"If you look at it from his point of view, the man has a point. To him the corpses were dinner. To bury them would have been a waste."

Nxumalo got into trouble after two cars and two buses crashed on a diesel highway, killing 39 people, on January 18.

A passerby alerted police to the accident. But by the time officers and an ambulance arrived at the scene two bodies had disappeared.

According to reports, cops found Nxumalo in a forest clearing about two miles away. Incredibly, the man had built a roaring bonfire — and was eating flesh that he had skewered and roasted in the flames.

"He was hysterical when we put him in handcuffs and begged us to let him finish eating before we took him away," said one cop.

"In a way, I feel sorry for the guy. He's a cannibal. He didn't know he was doing anything wrong."

It isn't clear why the 14 survivors of the highway crash didn't try to stop Nxumalo from taking bodies from the wreckage.

The most likely explanation is they were badly hurt or in shock and didn't realize that the cannibal was dragging the corpses away.

The man's attorney said: "We'll plead not guilty and I really do think we'll win the case. After that we'll pursue our request to let Mr. Nxumalo have other road accident victims.

"I have no idea how the [illegible] will rule on

I am 56 years old and was always sick and bedridden because of my weight. I wasn't expected to live much longer. I took SIO and, though I never stopped eating, I am now down to 103 lbs. The first night I went dancing, I met two men who both asked me out. If anyone had told me three months ago that there would be romance and men fighting over me in my future, I'd have called them liars. A friend I hadn't seen for quite some time didn't recognize me at all; when I told her who I was, she cried and shared my joy. Today I have an abundance of energy. I feel and look better now than in my college days. I look 20 years younger and I've never been happier. Trying SIO is the smartest investment I ever made. My advice to anyone who wants to lose weight is to try SIO.
